The composition of the Board is to be reviewed regularly against the Company's Board skills matrix prepared and maintained by the Nominations Committee to ensure the appropriate mix of skills and expertise is present to facilitate successful strategic direction.

Where practical, the majority of the Board should be comprised of non- executive Directors. Where practical, at least 50% of the Board should be independent.

- a) An independent Director is a director who is free of any interest, position, association or relationship that might influence, or reasonably be perceived to influence, in a material respect his or her capacity to bring an independent judgement to bear on issues before the Board and to act in the best interests of the Company and its security holders generally.
- b) In considering whether a Director is independent, the Board should consider the definition of what constitutes independence as detailed in Box 2.3 of the ASX Corporate Governance Council's Corporate Governance Principles and Recommendations 4th Edition.

Prior to the Board proposing re-election of non-executive Directors, their performance will be evaluated by the Nomination and Remuneration Committee to ensure that they continue to contribute effectively to the Board.

The Company must disclose the length of service of each Director in, or in conjunction with, its Annual Report.

The Company must disclose the relevant qualifications and experience of each Board Member in, or in conjunction with, its Annual Report.

5. Directors Responsibilities

Where a Director has an interest, position, association or relationship of the type described in the independence tests, but the Board is of the opinion that it does not compromise the independence of the Director, the Company must disclose the nature of the interest, position, associations or relationship in question and an explanation of why the Board is of that opinion.

Directors must disclose their interests, positions, associations or relationships. The independence of the Directors should be regularly assessed by the Board in light of the interests disclosed by them.

Directors are expected to bring their independent views and judgement to the Board and must declare immediately to the Board any potential or active conflicts of interest.

Directors must declare immediately to the Board, and the Board will determine whether to declare to the market, any loss of independence.

No member of the Board (other than a Managing Director) may serve for more than three years or past the third annual general meeting following their appointment, whichever is the longer, without being re-elected by shareholders.

The Chairman must be able to commit the time to discharge the role effectively.

- a) the Board must carry out the duties that would ordinarily be assigned to that committee under the written terms of reference for that committee; and
- b) the Company must disclose in, or in conjunction with, its annual report:
 - i) the fact a Committee has not been established; or
